President Michael R. Avery

Reflections on Ten Years of Leadership
TEN YEARS ON THE HILLTOP

For ten years Michael Avery has been president of God’s Bible School. At his installation, June 4, 1995, we heard him say, “I stand before you...a common man with feet of clay, but a man who’s been called to a responsibility and armed with a promise.” The responsibility was his alma mater’s call to leadership, while the promise was God’s assurance of His presence and direction.

Six months earlier I had been appointed editor of God’s Revivalist. My new assignment was awesome—even intimidating. But GBS’s new president-elect, who had wanted me here, also fortified me with this charge: “Larry, fight for the old Methodist doctrines!” I was determined to do that anyway, as he knew; but his encouragement confirmed my purpose, as it has continued to do in every Revivalist that I have prepared.

For Michael Avery believes—as I believe—that the “old Methodist doctrines” are also the old Bible doctrines which undergird everything we believe and everything we do on the Mount of Blessings. The horror of sin, the power of grace, the pursuit of holiness, the unselfishness of ministry, the passion of evangelism, the conquest of perfect love—these are the constant themes we have sounded on this campus since 1900 and on these pages since 1888. These are also the touchstones of President Avery’s administration.

Thus, GBS remains “the grand old school which [has been] the flagship of the holiness movement since the days when William McKinley reigned as President of the United States.” Mike Avery has given every impulse of his soul and every ounce of his energy to keep it that way. “The historic purpose of God’s Bible School, College, and Missionary Training Home remains firm,” as he emphasizes. “Our mission and core values still drive and direct all that we do.”

You will find these words in this Revivalist, together with his reflections on the past decade on the Hilltop. He lists the priorities he established at the beginning, traces his efforts to actualize them, and then evaluates the results. He concludes with his vision for the future—a GBS that remains staunchly grateful for its heritage and robustly hopeful for its future.

President Avery has informed us that this issue is not to flatter him but simply to summarize the course of his administration. We have followed that directive, of course; but neither do we conceal our admiration for the devout, creative, and courageous president who has commissioned us to “fight for the old Methodist doctrines” and who has also taken that commission for himself. Armed with God’s promise, President Avery has given noble response to his alma mater’s call to leadership.—Larry D. Smith, editor
This summer marks the end of ten years of my stewardship as president of GBSC, and it is time to discuss what has happened on the Hilltop during that period. What a delight to do so through the pages of God’s Revivalist, addressing you, the alumni and friends of the school, with substantially the same message that I shared earlier with the Board of Trustees. Grace and peace to each of you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ!

In retracing the years since 1995, it is clear that much has changed. It is also clear that the most important things remain the same. The historic purpose of God’s Bible School, College, and Missionary Training Home remains firm. Our mission and core values still drive and direct all that we do. After 105 years, GBSC has been able to remain true to its founding purpose, yet relevant to the needy world that surrounds us.

BALANCING THE CHANGING AND THE CHANGELESS

This task of balancing the changing and the changeless has always been a slippery slope to travel. John Stott said, “It’s easy to be contemporary if you don’t care about being faithful. It is also easy to be faithful if you don’t care about being contemporary.” Finding middle ground between these two is at times trying. But doing nothing and falling to one side or the other is treacherous. So many institutions in their breathless chase after relevance without a matching commitment to faithfulness have become not only unfaithful but irrelevant. Their determined efforts to redefine themselves in ways that are more compelling to the modern world have cost them their identity, their authority, and their relevance. They honestly wanted to make a difference, but they mistakenly thought they could only make a difference by becoming more like the culture around them.

You cannot make a difference by adding more of the same. To make a difference, you must be willing to be different. By God’s grace, GBSC has been able to balance commitment to a sacred trust with the advancement of a sacred task. The sacred trust is the mission, doctrinal beliefs, and core values of our school. The task is preparing Christian workers to serve their present age. Graduates who received their degrees in our recent commencement service are as well-trained, spiritually-minded, others-oriented, and committed to biblical holiness in message and lifestyle as any that have turned the tassel in the last 105 years.

Nothing happens by chance. The strong leadership of the Board of Trustees and the day-to-day work of the administrative team, faculty, and staff have made this possible. We have all embraced a deep commitment to our heritage while forging ahead with a vision to train 21st century Christian workers.

MY OWN STRATEGIC PLAN: 1995

In my installation remarks on the last Sunday of camp in 1995, I presented four initial goals that I felt had to become the focus of my first few years. I did not know at that time that (p6)

The Sabbath and the Christian

The study “The Sabbath and The Christian,” by Dr. Allan P. Brown, is one of the most well-written and documented studies I have ever seen on this subject. I have a high regard for the Sabbatarians among us, but agree with Dr. Brown that, in this case, the church tradition is on solid biblical and theological footing. This scholarship is in my “keeper file” to be used with my confirmation classes.

Nicaragua. “The Latin temperament is emotional and colorful. A Corinthian-style pandemonium in church is easily accepted. Thank God this has not gotten into the Holiness Church of Nicaragua, but the appeal of the high-pitch emotionalism is there for young, unstable Christians. The second prong of the attack is simply everyday worldliness. The leadership of the Holiness Church of Nicaragua (EWM) has stood strongly. There was a positive response to [my] admonitions [at a recent convention] about the areas of slippage. The last day was a wonderful time of outpouring of the Holy Spirit.” —Raymond Shreve, Evangelical Wesleyan Mission

Russia. “We are proclaiming the message of freedom only Christ can give throughout the vast nation of Russia and even to the regions beyond. Our mailing ministries currently are corresponding with people from more than forty of the major regions of Russia. We are continuing evangelistic meetings in Vyborg and in the village of Vozrozhdeniye. Our humanitarian aid program continues to reach many of the poorest people in Vyborg.” —Richard Grout, Russian Lifeline

Tibet. “A new plan is in motion to attempt to establish a ‘widow’s’ home in Dazi county, about 20 kilometers east of Lhasa. We have already talked with these county officials about this proposed project and are waiting for their response. Actually, what we are really looking for is a door by which to enter Tibet long term to carry on quiet Gospel work among the Tibetans, some of the least evangelized people on planet earth. Please pray with us that God will open an effectual door of access and utterance to this needy land.” —John E. Knight, Far East Newsletter

God's Bible School & College
What A Moment

Newest Choir Release
I was developing a strategic plan. I only knew that God wanted me to major on these four specific areas:

1. To address the school’s financial concerns. This meant stabilizing cash flow in order to meet payables in a timely manner, addressing payroll concerns, and reducing the debt.

2. To restore the core. The ministerial and missions programs had diminished in both emphasis and size. These are the programs that make a Bible college a Bible college, and these are the programs that GBSC has been renowned for. I knew they must be restored to numerical strength and to a place of significance on our campus.

3. To enhance the faculty. This meant bringing in new faculty and pushing ahead with continuing education for present faculty.

4. To increase enrollment.

Though this plan was never formalized, it became the guiding philosophy for the first few years.

THE FIRST FORMAL STRATEGIC PLAN: 1999

In 1999, the Board held its first strategic planning session and adopted five major goals. This five-year plan called for the following:

1. Preparing an enrollment plan with specific goals of enrollment increases.
2. Hiring new faculty to give leadership and strength to existing programs.
3. Beginning a facilities study that would develop a master plan to guide campus development and growth.
4. Launching a capital campaign to address financial and facility issues.
5. Exploring the possibility of North Central Association accreditation.

This second strategic plan was similar to the first. But the second plan was much more formalized, and it became the focus of both the Board and the administration. The following graphs will show the effectiveness of planning and committing to that plan.

Goal Number One: Address Financial Concerns

The team began to tackle payroll, payables, and cash flow problems with daily intensity. This narrow focus began to pay off. Payroll was never missed, the payables age sheet was quickly brought down to nothing due over 30 days, and the debt began to be reduced. Budgets were carefully planned and followed. By the year 2000, we began to build cash flow reserves to help smooth out day-to-day operations. This was done by isolating and restricting bequests.

We were also able to focus on permanently restricted scholarship funds. Friends of the school have given generously to these funds which have enabled us to grant 40 cash scholarships each year. When all pending gifts are secured, this fund will exceed $640,000. Our goal is to reach $1,000,000 in scholarship funds by 2007.

While all of this was happening, campus renovation had to continue, and our loyal friends have helped us invest approximately $3,000,000 in campus improvements over the past ten years. A partial listing of those improvements is given below.

1. Complete renovation of the chapel, including sound system, lighting system, and furnishings.
2. Complete renovation of all four floors of the Ladies’
   Residence Hall.
3. Addition of a fountain and landscaping on main campus.
4. Addition of the Schmul Ministerial Resource Center that houses a preaching
   chapel and library.
5. Construction of new Revivalist offices.

Camp Meeting
and commencement
Superb preaching, earnest seeking, and a pervasive sense of God’s presence marked this year’s camp meeting on the “Mount of Blessings,” May 17–22, which for many was a time of spiritual renewal. Evangelists were the Rev. E.R. Trouten, the Rev. James Plank and Dr. Wingrove Taylor. Trouten and Plank alternated morning and evening services with their pointed and impassioned presentations of truth, while Taylor continued the tradition of his stirring “holiness heart talks” in the morning Bible study hour. Dr. Philip Brown, GBS faculty member, gave afternoon lectures on St. Paul’s prison epistles, while GBS students conducted services for children.

Special services included commencement exercises and the tribute for President Avery’s ten years of service, both of which are reported elsewhere. The Sabbath began with a service of Holy Communion; and later, eleven young men and women received the sacrament of baptism. In the afternoon “school service,” students described their ministries, while the evening service closed with a massive response to Evangelist Plank’s stirring challenge to renewed loyalty to Christ’s exalted sovereignty.
FORTY-SEVEN GRANTED DEGREES AT 2005 COMMENCEMENT

GBS’s Adcock Memorial Chapel was packed to capacity for 2005 commencement exercises, Saturday morning, May 21. Forty-seven college graduates and eighteen high school graduates received diplomas. Delivering the address was the Rev. James Plank.

President Michael Avery conducted the service. Offering the invocation was the Rev. Darrell Stetler; reading the scripture was Mr. Mark Going; and concluding with the benediction was the Rev. Walter Hedstrom. Special music was by Aaron Terry and Rhoda Miles, who sang Charles Wesley’s “Love Divine, All Loves Excelling.”

Mr. David Crosley, Aldersgate Christian Academy principal, presented high school graduates; and Dr. Kenneth Farmer, Vice President for Academic Affairs, presented college graduates. Board President Dr. Leonard Sankey conferred the degrees.

Divisional chairs Dr. Allan Brown, Dr. Marcia Davis, Prof. Daniel Glick, and Prof. Garen Wolf I presented the following college honors:

(1) Ministerial Education: Outstanding Achievement in Biblical Greek: Stephanie Joy Smith; Outstanding Achievement in Biblical Hebrew: Joseph David Ratcliff;

Dear Jim,

I’m afraid many Christians have completely lost sight of the biblical purposes for tithing. Foremost is God’s desire to remind us that He is the center of our lives, including our finances. Tithing promotes the fear of the Lord by reminding God’s people that He owns it all, that He is the source of all blessings, and that He is worthy of our joyful thank offerings of tithe. Further, tithes (and offerings) are God’s method of providing for spiritual leaders whom He has chosen to serve Him and His people. How many churches are suffering spiritually because they fail to provide even a tithe of their increase to support their spiritual leader? And let’s not forget that God designated the tithes of the third and sixth years to provide for the poor and needy!

You ask, “But what about the New Testament?” On two separate occasions, Jesus pronounced woe on the Pharisees’ hypocrisy regarding tithing. In Luke 11:42a, Jesus said, “You pay tithe of mint and rue and every kind of garden herb, and yet disregard justice and the love of God.” The Pharisees were tithing “down to the penny,” but missing the main things: justice and love for God. We must make sure that we are not guilty of this kind of myopic attention to detail that loses sight of loving God and others. At the same time, we must not overlook what Jesus said in the second half of Luke 11:42, “but these are the things you should have done without neglecting the others.” In other words, it is not tithing versus loving God. It is both. We should tithe (a small concern) and not fail to love our neighbor and God (the biggest concern). Here then is our Lord Jesus Himself affirming the necessity of tithing (see also Mat. 23:23).

Because I find nothing in the Apostle Paul’s writings or other NT writings that states the OT requirements for tithing were fulfilled in Christ or annulled by Him, I assume the principles they represent are still valid. When we study the NT, we find that it teaches that giving should be proportionate, reciprocal, systematic, and generous (1 Cor. 16:2; 2 Cor. 8:14-15; 9:6). Our giving should encompass needy saints (Rom. 12:13; 2 Cor. 9:12), the sick and aged (Acts 20:35), ruling and teaching elders (1 Tim. 5:17), Bible teachers (Gal 6:6-10), widows (1 Tim. 5:8-16), strangers (Heb. 13:2), and missionaries (3 John 5-7).

So, in answer to your questions, Jim: Yes, God requires us to tithe. No, I see no essential differences between the NT and OT principles for giving. No, a tithe is not all God expects from us. And, yes, we should be giving more than the tithe, as we are able (1 Cor. 16:2). Let’s remember 2 Cor. 9:6: “He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.”

Sincerely,

Philip Brown

Goal Number Two: Restore the Core

The heart of any Bible college is its Bible/Theology program. GBSC, however, has had such a strong historical emphasis on missions that at the core of its identity is not only Bible training but also missionary training. These two programs are the historical heart of our school. Unfortunately, these both had declined significantly. After addressing the issues related to their decline, these programs have rebounded as the graphs above show.

Goal Number Three: Encourage Faculty Development

We have initiated a continuing-education program for our faculty that has enabled a number of them to complete a needed degree. We have put into place a system for incremental annual raises and have given summer bonuses (equivalent to 10 percent of annual salary) the last four years.

Goal Number Four: Increase Enrollment

We took the following steps to address declining enrollment:
1. Hired a full-time student recruiter and a part-time assistant.
2. Developed a five-year enrollment plan.
3. Created a Cross Functional Retention Team to intervene proactively with at-risk students.

We are pleased at our dramatic increase in enrollment, as the chart demonstrates.

President Avery added words of kindness and thanks for all that the Sedlaceks have meant to God’s Bible School and for all that they have given to it. Later, at the end-of-year staff meeting, Mr. Sedlacek was given a plaque, a gift of $100 for each of his years at GBSC, and a card shower from the faculty and staff.

Let me add that words cannot express all the thanks that he deserves for the time, energy, prayer, and many other ways that he gave of his time. May God bless Ron and Lois Sedlacek as they settle into their retirement years back in Virginia. —David Crosley, Principal, Aldersgate Christian Academy

DR. MICHAEL AVERY RE-ELECTED GBS PRESIDENT

At its regular spring session, held on campus, Monday, May 23, the Board of Trustees unanimously re-elected Dr. Michael R. Avery to another four-year term as president of God’s Bible School and College. Avery, a GBS alumnus (’79 BRE), came to his alma mater as its seventh president in the summer of 1995.

At a special surprise service during the GBS camp meeting, Saturday evening, May 2, Avery was honored for his ten years as president. A video created by Revivalist Art Director Kevin Moser and including many tributes and photographs was shown. Board member Robbie England presented a summary of the accomplishments of the Avery administration. Dr. Avery, his wife Ruth (GBS ’80 BA), and his two sons, Josh and Jonathan, were then brought to the platform and presented with gifts from the Board of Trustees, the staff and faculty, and the student body. Following appropriate remarks, Board chairman Dr. Leonard Sankey received a love offering for the Avery family. Following the service, a reception in their honor was held in the Student Center dining room.

In other action, the Board of Trustees re-elected Mr. Jimmy Wilcox and Dr. Stephen Miller to four-year terms as trustees, then added the Rev. Carl Eisenhart as a new member. Dr. Leonard Sankey was re-elected board chairman, and Robbie England was elected vice chairman.

CHARLES AND LOTTIE TRYON GIVEN HONORARY DOCTORATES

Founders and retiring directors of GBS’s highly-successful Aldersgate Distance Education Program (ADEP) Charles and Lottie Tryon were each granted the honorary degree Doctor of Christian Ministries at the 2005 commencement. President Avery spoke of their early response to Christ’s call, first to conversion and then to service. “Love brought them together. Their love for each other birthed five sons and fifty-five years of marriage. Their love for the Lord led them to fifty years of ministry.”

Dr. Avery noted that the Tryons had “pastored churches in Colorado, Iowa, and Oklahoma; worked as missionaries in the Philippines, Papua New Guinea, Guam, Saipan, Japan, and Hawaii; opened Bible schools for training pastors and lay people; founded the International Association of Bible Fellowship Centers; helped create the world’s first Braille New Testament for blind Philippine students; at the request of the US government, went to Japan to work with an adult high school program; assisted in turning traditional classrooms into ‘Open Learning Centers’; and reopened Open Learning Centers in Korea, the Philippines, Taiwan, Japan, and Okinawa.”

At a regional IHC in 2001, as the president noted, the Tryons had shared with him their “burden to educate workers for the Kingdom. Lottie talked and Charles cried and I listened. And out of that discussion, Aldersgate Distance Education was born. The Tryons moved to Cincinnati and launched the program. The rest is history. Men and women in Christian ministry who have not completed a degree are doing so today. Some of the graduates from this graduating class are from the Aldersgate program. They are walking the aisle and turning the tassel because of Charles and Lottie Tryon.”

After four years at GBS, the Tryons are returning home to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where they will continue to develop college curricula for use on mission fields. Such materials are now used by 32 overseas missions in Australia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, South America, the Hispanic ministries in Florida, Papua New Guinea, and Haiti.

The new director of ADEP is Paul D. Wolfe. Watch for further information in the September Revivalist.
Fred Bales Receives High School Diploma 47 Years Later

Forty-seven years after he left high school at GBS, the Rev. Fred Bales of Friendship, Ohio, has received his diploma. According to David Crosley, principal of Aldersgate Christian Academy, Bales, then in his late teens, enrolled as a high school freshman in 1955. He successfully pursued his studies, but only weeks into his senior year in 1958, he was forced to leave campus because of his wife’s illness. In the years since, Bales became a successful pastor and evangelist but always wanted to finish high school at GBS. In the fall of 2004 he re-enrolled, taking classes alongside youngsters fifty years his junior. He received his high school diploma at the May 21 commencement as the whole audience gave him a standing ovation. He is pictured in the collage on page eight.

President Avery Challenges Alumni at IHC Alumni Reception

At least 250 people gathered at the Dayton Convention Center, Wednesday, April 20, for the annual GBS alumni reception held in conjunction with the Inter-Church Holiness Convention. Alumni and friends heard the GBS male quartet Assurance sing several selections. President Avery gave a PowerPoint overview of his ten years as President, as well as his goals for the future. Alumni President Dennis Joslin brought greetings and closed in prayer. The reception was a great time of fellowship for the alumni in attendance. —Jack Hooker, Vice President for Advancement

New Ministerial Scholarship Established

Jack Hooker, Vice President for Advancement, announces the creation of a new scholarship endowed by funds from the sale of an historic church building. “In 1870 a small band of Christians began a meeting that would later become South Bend Union Chapel,” he explains. “This church along River Road in Cincinnati had a number of pastors affiliated with GBS including: Richard Miles, Henry Miller, Dennis Sheposh, C. Bonnie Sanders, Kevin Baron, Joe Mears, Gregory Hudson, and Rodney Jackson.” In January the congregation disbanded, designating part of the proceeds from the sale of its church building for the South Bend Union Chapel Scholarship Fund for GBS ministerial students. “Our special thanks to this congregation,” Hooker adds.

Crystal Wolf Receives Wal-Mart Teacher Award

David Crosley, principal of Aldersgate Christian Academy, announces that academy teacher Mrs. Crystal (Reece) Wolf, has been chosen “Teacher of the Year” at the West Chester, Ohio, Wal-Mart on the nomination of her student Nick Fishesser. On May 5, Mrs. Lori Fishesser and Nick presented Mrs. Wolf a Wal-Mart check (p18).

BRIEFLY NOTED…. “It’s the chance of a lifetime! Travel with GBS faculty to Israel,” comments Dr. Allan P. Brown concerning GBS’s projected tour to the Holy Land, February 22–March 3. Be watching in upcoming issues of the Revivalist for information about itinerary, price, and other arrangements…. Jack Hooker, GBS Vice President for Advancement, has announced that Aldersgate Christian Academy has received a grant from the Akron General Development Foundation for a Medtronic LIFEPAK 500 Automated External Defibrillator. This life-saving device will be available to trained personnel in the event that a student, staff member, or visitor suffers cardiac arrest. Grant funds have also underwritten the cost of implementation and the training of five GBS staff members in the use of the AED. Miss Janna Hooker is serving as Site Coordinator… The GBS Student Ministerial Organization held its first Holiness Rally, Sunday evening, May 15, 2005, with ministerial students Ben Crawford, Curtis Going, and P.D. Wolfe, speaking. The rally was hosted by Loveland Wesleyan Chapel, Ray Campbell, pastor. This is the first of what is planned to be an annual event on the Sunday night before the GBS camp meeting. Next year, the holiness rally is scheduled for the Christian Nation Church, Carl Eisenhart, pastor.

ACCREDITATION VISIT: SEPTEMBER 19–21

God’s Bible School and College (GBSC) is scheduled for a comprehensive evaluation visit, September 19-21, 2005, by a team representing the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

The Higher Learning Commission is one of six accrediting agencies in the United States that provide institutional accreditation on a regional basis. Institutional accreditation evaluates an entire institution and accredits it as a whole, in contrast with program-level agencies, which provide accreditation for specific programs. Accreditation is voluntary. The Higher Learning Commission accredits approximately 1,000 institutions of higher education in a nineteen-state region and is recognized by the US Department of Education and the Council on Higher Education Accreditation.

Since the spring of 2004, GBSC has been engaged in a process of self-study, addressing the Commission’s requirements and criteria for accreditation. Among the strengths of the institution identified in that process are the very high student-satisfaction ratings given for faculty, building and grounds, social life, and student body. In all these areas on this nationally-recognized inventory, GBSC students in the fall of 2004 ranked the institution close to the top (above 5.99 on a 7-point scale).

GBSC has also enjoyed enrollment increases and improved retention rates. In addition, the self-study has noted the significant and positive impact of strategic planning throughout the institution, the progress in assessment of student learning outcomes, and the sound fiscal management that has allowed the institution to pay off all debt while growing its cash-flow reserves and its scholarship funds.

The self-study, which involved all segments of the GBSC campus, also identifies areas for further improvements. GBSC is currently in Phase Three of “Faith in the Future,” the first capital campaign in its 105 year history.

In September 2005, the evaluation team from the Higher Learning Commission will visit the institution to gather evidence that the self-study is thorough and accurate. The team will submit a recommendation to the Commission concerning candidacy status for the institution. Following a review process, the Commission itself will take the final action.

PUBLIC COMMENT INVITED

In relation to the upcoming accreditation review by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the public is invited to submit comments regarding God’s Bible School and College:

Goal Number Five: Develop a Master Plan for the Campus

We have initiated serious plans for future development of our Mt. Auburn campus, as the diagram demonstrates.

Goal Number Six: Launch a Capital Campaign

Faith in the Future was launched in the fall of 2002. Phase One raised $1.6 million. This phase is complete. It will be fully funded when the final $186,000 in outstanding pledges is received.

Phase Two of our capital campaign had three components: construction of a new facilities building, renovation of the old Revivalist floor for high school/elementary use, and development of a new entrance to campus. The facilities building has been underwritten, and work will begin in late summer. The renovation of the old Revivalist floor has already begun and will be completed prior to the beginning of school this fall. At this point, we need $25,000 to fully fund this project. The new campus entrance is yet to be funded.

Phase Three is the addition of a balcony annex to the chapel and is yet to be funded.

Goal Number Seven: Pursue Regional Accreditation

The Board of Trustees voted to pursue regional accreditation with the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. At the same time, the college will maintain its accreditation with the Association for Biblical Higher Education. The Board felt that regional accreditation would bring a permanent solution to the issue of transferability of credits with universities that are sometimes hostile to Christian institutions. We have never had a problem with seminaries and other Christian colleges, nor with universities that know us or ones with which we have developed a relationship. However, regional accreditation will solve transferability of credit problems nationwide. It will also allow us to apply for a number of matching gifts and grants that are available only to regionally-accredited schools.

The same questions that arose when the college pursued ABHE accreditation have been asked by concerned friends of the school. These are legitimate questions and deserve an answer. The first question is, “Will this cause GBSC to change or compromise its identity or core values?” The answer is NO! Accrediting bodies do not seek to alter an institution’s mission, core values, or identity. Indeed, their task is to hold an institution accountable to do what it says it is supposed to be doing.
We would be shocked at who are sitting in our pews if they had the nerve to tell us all their problems. We are commanded to "confess [our] faults one to another" (James 5:16) and also to share in our hurting and rejoicing (1 Cor. 12:26). The church must be a place of safety and healing. Note that James 5:16, already cited, commands confession for prayer and healing, not for condemnation or ostracism. Remember also that Paul used his authority for edification, not harm (2 Cor. 10:8).

These "shocking" people in our pews need to believe that the church is for healing and not for harm. Just as Jesus reached out to rescue Peter, so the Church, which is His earthly body, should reach out to rescue all those who are in need of help. Keep in mind, then, that the church is the life preserver, not the drowning weight. When we react to someone different from us with faith and support, we engage that person with grace as Christ would have done.

I once knew a pastor who expressed his fear that when he was visiting in the community he would meet those who were divorced and remarried. So he left such persons alone because he theologically did not know what to do with them. I also know divorced people and people who are remarried after divorce who sometimes believe that their acceptance is questionable in the church; or if they are accepted at all, they fear that they will be relegated to a sort of "second-class" citizenship in God’s kingdom. Granted, consequences from past failures may live with us for life, but God’s love and grace are no less for any truly born-again believer.

Hear the despair of a non-practicing homosexual: "I hate these struggles, pain and confusion. I hate myself more days than not. I want to be normal with normal friendships and normal sexual desires. Why do I sit here feeling so little hope and like I’m wasting my time going to church because there’s no help for me here? Why do I feel such a need for people to tell me that they love me and that I’m important to them? Why do I long so desperately to be a part of the conservative (p22)"
The answer again is NO! No faculty member can be hired without the approval of the Board of Trustees, and this only after an interview process. Each faculty member has to sign the Statement of Faith that is in the Ministry Bylaws and reaffirm it annually. You can read these bylaws on our website.

More importantly, our program offerings are highly focused by the very nature of our mission. Our mission is to train Christian workers within the Wesleyan/Holiness tradition. Our majors are few and are centered in Christian service. That allows us to capitalize on our strengths and offer a program rooted in excellence. The faculty we need for the degrees we offer can be secured from sound, conservative graduate schools. Future faculty can also be mentored and trained in advance to insure that highly qualified, as well as experienced, people stand before our students. This allows us to maintain program integrity as well as doctrinal purity.

We are now in the self-study phase of the accreditation process, which is the third of five required steps. Step four will be a team visit, which is scheduled for this fall. Step five will be notification of candidate status or notification of issues yet to be resolved.

LOOKING AHEAD

The future promises both significant challenge and glorious opportunity. God has a great deal of work to do in His world and will need young men and women to do that work. He needs people who are thoroughly converted, entirely sanctified, and capably trained to send to the front lines of kingdom expansion. He needs workers who are capable of following wherever He is leading and working within whatever method He is using to redeem the lost.

Muslims are finding the Gospel through websites and Internet links. Discipleship material and Bible classes are going online every day all around the world. Educational missionaries are going into the large urban areas of the world both to educate and evangelize some of the most neglected people on earth. Christian schools are springing up in second- and third-world countries. Cheap travel is turning career missionaries into the equivalent of old-fashioned Methodist “circuit riders,” though now on a global scale. These short-term visits offer consulting and training to nationals who can do the job of evangelizing their own people.

GBSC must position itself to educate and equip 21st-century soldiers of the cross. John Wesley used field preaching, societies, and class meetings. Francis Asbury used circuit riders and the camp meeting. Martin Wells Knapp used the printed page, picture placards, and the magic lantern. M.G. Standley used Thanksgiving Day dinners, house-to-house evangelism, and the GI’s of the Cross with their caravans of jeeps, trailers, and tents. We must also engage our day with diverse methods, while at the same time we must remain faithful to the eternal message of God’s Word.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE: 2005

GBSC held its third strategic planning session in March of this year. A group of about 30 key trustees, administrators, faculty, and students came together to discuss and formulate a comprehensive plan to give the school direction for the next three years. The result was the STAND plan (Strategic Thought and Action for New Developments). This plan will help to keep us focused on fulfilling our mission and prioritize the things that are central to that task. At the same time a strategic planning process will be institutionalized that updates our progress each year. There are four major strategies that we will pursue:

1. Strengthen Financial Health
   • Continue to identify opportunities for revenue growth, expense containment, and attainment of reserve-fund levels while fulfilling our overall plan.
   • Seek to enlarge our donor base and student body.
   • Implement a structured plan for faculty and staff salary increases.

2. Evaluate Organizational Capability
   • Continue to evaluate the organization’s strengths and weaknesses.
   • Expand and track faculty and staff professional development, adding master- and doctoral-level faculty to all key departments.
   • Create and implement a business plan for Aldersgate Distance Ed. growth and curriculum development.
   • Update the master facilities plan, including Faith in the Future capital campaign completion, funding, revised site layouts, and long-term vision for property acquisition.
   • Pursue additional properties adjacent to our campus.
   • Expand the Men’s Residence Hall using space on the current high school floor.
   • Continue with our plans to change the campus entrance.
   • Explore the possibility of a campaign for an educational building.
   • Engage a technology advisory group to ensure hi-tech classrooms, innovative library resources, online presence, and distance learning program expansion.

3. Pursue Growth
   • Endeavor to maintain a yearly three-percent increase in enrollment.
• Conduct a market analysis to identify and reach new markets.
• Continue to improve our Attrition/Retention Plan by providing one-stop student services, including Student Learning Center, enrichment resources, and a seamless system of communication between Retention Team, faculty and other constituents.

4. Monitor Mission Impact
Continue to evaluate our programs through testing and tracking to make sure that our students are fulfilling the mission of God’s Bible School and College.

YOU AND THE FUTURE OF GOD’S BIBLE SCHOOL AND COLLEGE

God’s Bible School and College is what it is today because of the faithfulness of God and the faithfulness of His people. Friends of the school like you have stood by her over the years and have given regularly and sacrificially for her support. I couldn’t recount all the times when the school had a need and someone sent a letter with a check enclosed, explaining how God had spoken to him or her about the school.

This has been our story—a story of God giving through His people to meet the needs of His school. The alumni and friends of GBSC are the vital link to its future. I thank God for all of you who give and pray regularly for the school.

As we remain true to our mission, demand excellence in our work, remain good stewards of God’s gifts, and seek to honor and follow the leadership of the Holy Spirit, we are confident that GBSC’s brightest days are still ahead. We need your prayers and support as we continue to do what God has raised up this school to do.

ONE SLEEPLESS NIGHT

“On that night could not the king sleep.” Esther 6:1

God is not mentioned in the entire book of Esther, but nowhere is His overruling providence more grandly displayed. The fate of a nation hung in the balance. The vice-regent of the most powerful kingdom on earth was well on his way to carrying out the destruction of God’s chosen people. Overshadowed by an unseen Presence, guided by an unseen Hand, Mordecai and Esther moved onto center stage, unconscious of the Divine Engineer at the controls. God observed the thoughts of wicked Haman afar off. By the simple expedient of a sleepless night, the victims became the victors, and the course of history was changed.

God is the Master Strategist. To watch the networking of His providential dealings with men is the thrill of a lifetime. Seated upon the circle of the earth, every detail within His vision, He “knoweth the way that we take,” fights our battles for us, and—if we let Him—charts our future. Our part is to obey and trust Him fully.

Anita Brechbill, Mifflinburg, Pennsylvania, is editor of RopeHolders and a regular contributor to the Revivalist.

(p21) holiness movement, while at the same time feeling like I never can be? Why does church leave me feeling depressed and more useless and worthless than ever, instead of giving me hope? I just want to feel accepted by them...even by one of them...to feel like I’m important...that I’m connected...that I’m a part of their group...that I’m not some freakish outsider who has never fit in with them and never will.”

Let us not ever forget that the church, reacting as Christ would have done, is to rescue the perishing and to “mend” the broken (Lu 4:18).

“Mending Nets” explores God’s readiness to “mend” the breakdowns which so often mar our lives. It is written by the Rev. Richard Miles, GBSC Vice President for Student Affairs. Send questions to be addressed in this column to Mendingnets@gbs.edu

Recently five properties that border our campus have become available for purchase. The school has prayed for these properties for at least 30 years. We believe this is an historic opportunity for the expansion of our campus. These buildings will add considerable housing for staff and married students. Acquiring these areas will also help us to beautify the entrance to our campus. This is why we are adding this project to Phase II of the Faith in the Future Capital Campaign. Our goal is to raise $250,000 to purchase these five buildings. Naming opportunities are available for each building or for individual apartments. Please contact the Advancement Office for more information. You may do so by calling Jack Hooker, VP for Advancement, at 513-721-7944, ext. 223, or by emailing jhooker@gbs.edu.

“Thank God for President Avery’s vision of ‘Faith In The Future.’ Join me in also making it our fruitful faith in the fine future that the Father has planned for His school and ours!”
